Our Living Past: A Platinum Portrait of Music Maker

For 35 years, photographer Tim Duffy has forged a unique vision immortalizing Southern musical heroes and the world in which they live. This compelling collection of images was made with the wet-plate collodion process, which Tim has explored with the assistance of Aaron Greenhood. These photographs were then taken to breathtaking heights with platinum/palladium printing, sponsored and produced by 21st Editions®

Music Maker Relief Foundation partners with Southern musicians to keep our cultural heritage alive. Multi-media supplemental materials and live artist performances are available to support this exhibit.
